LIFE SAVED BY
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption.
The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood.
The doctors being unable to help her, I induced her to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have not the least doubt."—K. Morris, Memphis, Tenn.

N. W. K. T. A.
The Fifth Annual Convention of Northwest Kansas Teachers' Association, met in Norton, Kansas, on Thanksgiving Day, November 29.

About two hundred teachers from the various counties belonging to the territory covered by the Association, were present, and notwithstanding the hard times, the convention was one of the most successful ever held.

The good people of Norton are capital entertainers, and cared for the Association in a first-class manner.

The meeting was called to order on Thursday afternoon, by Prof. J. N.
Mosher, of Smith Center, the retiring president. Hon. C. D. Jones, on behalf of the city of Norton, then welcomed the Association in a brief but very appropriate address, to which Superintendent Ames, of Smith county responded in a very happy manner on the part of the teachers assembled.

The new president, Superintendent Smith, of this county, was the next introduced by Prof. Mosher, and proceeded to deliver the president's annual address. This address was a very able paper and was highly applauded.

The lecture in the evening by Rev.
Robert McIntyre, of Denver, was indeed a rare treat for all who heard it.
As a humorist, an actor and a word painter, Rev. McIntyre certainly has few equals in this country. His lecture, "Buttoned up People," while not pretending to be profound, was glowing with beauty, filled with good things, and overflowing with humanity. Everybody felt a livelier sense of the common brotherhood of man, from listening to it.

The following program was performed, Friday:

and Patrons of our Schools,"—Jacob Boek, Dresden.

General Discussion.
Second only to the general interest felt by all, in the welfare of the teachers' profession, was the interest in the oratorical contest, Friday evening. Eight counties entered contestants, as follows:

Decatur county,.....W. R. Steever.
"Abraham Lincoln."

Smith county,.....Carrie M. Simpson.
"The Chariot Race."

Rooks county,.....Ada Lee Cole.
"Launching of the Ship."

Thomas county,.....J. R. Connelly.
"Death-bed of Benedict Arnold."

Phillips county,.....Olie Church.
"The Raven."

Graham county,.....Ina M. Lank.
"The Whistling Regiment."

Norton county,.....Lou Robinson.
"The Bridge of the Tay."

Cheyenne county,.....Emma Slyhoff.
"Regent Blanche."

All of the selections were well rendered, and it was difficult to determine which was best. The judges, after mature deliberation, however, awarded the first prize to Miss Lou Robinson, the second to Miss Olie Church, and the third to Miss Carrie Simpson. Excellent music was interspersed between the recitations, making the contest, as a whole, one of the best of entertainments.

The program Saturday was performed, as follows:

SATURDAY P. M.
1:50—"Arithmetic."

1st—Fundamentals, Emma Mc-Cleery, Oberlin.

2d—Fractions, Laura Williams, Norton.

3d—Per centage, C. I. Griffith, Norton.

General Discussion.
All of the papers and discussions during the session, showed a thorough understanding of the needs of education, a full appreciation of the difficulties in the way, an earnest desire coupled with a sturdy determination to overcome the difficulties, toward progress, and a bright, cheerful hope of final success. The session was highly enjoyed by all who attended.

The following members were chosen nominating committee, to locate the next meeting and select officers for the following year: Smith, J. N.
Mosher; Phillips, J. M. Tadlock; Norton, J. E. Gleason; Decatur, L. W.

enne, J. A. Brown; Rooks, H. J. Lam-

SENATOR INGALLS

Interviewed in New York, says
Some Good Things.

New York, Dec. 1.—Ex-Senator J.
J. Ingalls came to the city from Boston, where he had delivered a lecture.

"Populism," he said, "had reached its culminating point, and has made a remarkable impression upon the legislation of congress. The income tax is absolutely and unequivocally a populist measure. It was advocated by neither the democratic or republican party. The populist platform alone contained a line of reference to such a tax. The income tax is a measure of immense significance.

"I do not regard the election of this year as in any sense a certificate of unqualified confidence in the republican party. Democracy met defeat because it had demonstrated its unequalled incapacity to deal rightly with present day problems. The election means simply that the republican party has another chance. If it fails, it too, will be brought low.

"If republican leaders accept the opportunity presented, we shall win in 1896. But the tariff will not be the great issue, nor will any candidate be successful whose position is not known upon other and, I believe, far more momentous questions.

"The wealth of the rich, the poverty of the poor, the excessive and menacing power of corporations, strangulation of trade by a vicious financial system, and a more general diffusion of prosperity among the masses; these are the vital questions of the day.

"Which ever party shall reveal its capacity to deal intelligently and successfully with these problems, will hold the reins of the government."

A Surprise Thanksgiving Dinner

About 11 o'clock a loaded wagon drove up to the Lone Star school house. The teacher had no more than gotten the guests seated by the fire and was proceeding with the recitations, when another wagon drove up. By noon there were four wagons and a cart hitched about the yard. After a short social chat, to give the surprised teacher time to recover, several planks were brought in and two tables were soon groaning under a sumptuous feast.

Three quarters of an hour was very pleasantly spent with roast turkey and squash pie, with jokes for salad.

As soon as the fragments of the feast were again packed in the baskets, the young, and some older, participated in games of "pull-away" and "Ruth and Jacob."

About 2:30 the crowd was called to order, and the school literary society proceeded to elect a president and secretary for the ensuing month. The old officers, Seymour Wilson, president, and Miss Birdie Bailey, secretary, then took their places, and a short Thanksgiving program was rendered.

The society then decided to prepare a Christmas program.

The cheerful crowd dispersed about 3:30. The visitors were Mesdames Downs, Bailey, and Cox with her little son, Mr. Wissie Pfost, wife and little son and daughter, Mr. Rigby, wife and daughter Miss Alta, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, and Mr. Gillis of the neighborhood. Messrs. R. L. Wilson, Scott Wright and Miss Nellie Swim from Marvin.

Come again, friends and parents.

Mrs. Downs, we heartily thank you for originating such a scheme, and Mrs. Bailey for executing the same, and the others of the company, for making it possible for the affair to be such a success.
